

Section 8000 – Students

8895-R Married Students

8895-R

Married students shall be expected to conduct themselves in the same manner as other students, observing all policies and rules of the Board. They may, however, be classified as special students for attendance purposes, subject to mutual agreement.

All cases will be handled on an individual basis. Consideration will be shown by the administration so that the best possible arrangement regarding credits and graduation can be made.
